ILLUSTRATIVE ARTWORK. Figures, outcomes and product claims are not verified client evidence.

Inventory SaaS Website Redesign

Original composition retained for reference. Blacked-out areas are part of the supplied file; the reason for those redactions is undocumented. Pictured controls are artwork. See page 2 for a readable description and scope.

ILLUSTRATIVE ARTWORK. Figures, outcomes and product claims are not verified client evidence.

An illustrative inventory software direction

What is visible

The retained poster juxtaposes two laptop views. Its left screen says “OLD WEBSITE,” and its headline claims higher conversions and revenue. Those elements are illustrative, not authentic before-and-after evidence.

How to interpret the sample

The readable website example on the project page replaces the poster as the primary exhibit on the project page. It demonstrates clearer offer and workflow copy without claiming a measured improvement, an existing client site or a completed integration.

Source and limits

Retained from an earlier Final Step Marketing portfolio export. Client identity, original delivery date, implementation status and exact agency role are not documented for this visual. Refreshed contextual presentation: November 2026. Historical published work is listed separately in the original archive.