ILLUSTRATIVE ARTWORK. Figures, outcomes and product claims are not verified client evidence.

Productivity App Acquisition Creative

Original composition retained for reference. Blacked-out areas are part of the supplied file; the reason for those redactions is undocumented. Pictured controls are artwork. See page 2 for a readable description and scope.

ILLUSTRATIVE ARTWORK. Figures, outcomes and product claims are not verified client evidence.

Show the task before making the promise

What is visible

The retained poster presents two task-management phone screens, a “Get More Done” headline and an 85 percent figure. Some small labels are distorted in the supplied source.

How to interpret the sample

The readable interactive task example on the project page replaces those screens as the primary exhibit on the project page. Its checklist is browser-only sample data. It does not reproduce a real app, report productivity gains or connect to a store or account.

Source and limits

Retained from an earlier Final Step Marketing portfolio export. Client identity, original delivery date, implementation status and exact agency role are not documented for this visual. Refreshed contextual presentation: November 2026. Historical published work is listed separately in the original archive.