A packaging and product-presentation study

What is visible

A dark supplement jar is shown with capsules and ingredients. The artwork includes energy, immunity and focus language and labels such as “Third-Party Tested.”

How to interpret the sample

These statements are unverified artwork copy, not health claims endorsed by Final Step Marketing. A production pack would need approved ingredients, label copy and evidence for every product or testing statement.

Source and limits

Retained from an earlier Final Step Marketing portfolio export. Client identity, original delivery date, implementation status and exact agency role are not documented for this visual. Refreshed contextual presentation: November 2026. Historical published work is listed separately in the original archive.
